

Working Together in Agreement

The academy stresses the importance that parental support and intervention has on a child's achievement.

Research shows that:

- The support parents give to their children matters more than background, size of family or levels of education.
- Parents taking an interest in their child's schooling mean it is more likely they will do well in exams.
- Children of involved parents have better social skills, are less vulnerable to stress and enjoy better health.

Our School Aims:

- Motivate our children to achieve their potential through a love of learning and inspirational teaching.
- Encourage our children through sharing high expectations and celebrating personal, social and academic achievement.
- Provide an engaging curriculum that creates independent thinkers who enjoy learning.
- Support parents and carers to be active partners with the school in their children's education.
- Develop young people who are resilient and who demonstrate respect, fairness and honesty.
- Inspire our children to engage in, and contribute to, the world around them.
